

The Orangevale History Project, invites you to become a member!

The Orangevale History Project, founded in 2022 is a non-profit historical society to preserve, chronicle and promote the history of Orangevale, California.

The 'Vale was developed as an "Agriburb" in 1888 offering 10-acre plots for orchards. Orangevale attracted hardy people immediately looking for an opportunity to prosper in this new area. Orangevale's history grew rich over time as the new farmers and their supporting businesses grew. Schools were started, railroads came and went, then Folsom Dam and Aerojet brought more folks looking for opportunity in our corner of the world. Today, Orangevale is a thriving community.

The Orangevale History Project, was formed by local volunteers to save our OV history.

Accomplishments to date;

- A commemorative sign about the California Central Railroad has been placed in Orangevale Park near a remaining track berm
- Monthly historical presentations on the first Wednesdays at 6:30pm
- Oral interviews of long-time residents are recorded on YouTube
- Articles of historical interest can be found in local newspapers.
- Monthly Members newsletter
- OrangevaleHistory.org and OrangevaleHistoryMuseum.org are active
- Orangevale History Museum opened July 15, 2023. Tour hours Tues,Thurs, Saturday

In response to the forward vision of the Orangevale Park and Recreation Department's Board, Orangevale History Museum is located on the Orangevale Community Centers campus at 6920 Hazel Avenue. The Interpretive Museum features changing exhibits created to attract young and old. Technology is embraced to share the stories while fostering a love of history in our youth. Docents will guide the Museum experience and will also take the "show on the road" to schools and other public places. It is being created to welcome and entertain all ages.

Today is a good time to become a member and join this exciting journey in Orangevale!
